

Listen to the Frog Symphony

Spring is a time when amphibians and reptiles are emerging. Vernal pools and wetlands are teeming with life. What plants and animals do you see? What do you hear? As you walk through the woods, look for pools of water, or listen for the calls of frogs as they wake up for the season.

See typical dates to hear different frog species in Vermont here. You can learn more about our frogs and make your own spring time symphony:

Spring Peeper – shake some bells

Wood Frog – run your finger over an inflated balloon

Green Frog – strum a rubber band

Boreal Chorus Frog – run your finger over a comb
